

Foundations Curriculum

Copyright Foundations Publishing, LLC 2005

Created and Written by Kathlyn Mickel

Illustrated by Jean Evanson

Contact: info@kidsfaith.org

www.kidsfaith.org

The Bible

Parent/child weekly study

Who wrote the Bible?

Did God tell them what to say in the Bible?

What is the Bible about?

Who does the Bible tell us about?

What part of the Bible is Jesus in?

Verse for The Bible

Your word is a lamp unto my feet and a light for my path.

Psalms 119:105

It was quiet time at Robby's house.
Everyone was reading.

Robby was reading a silly book about a bunny and a turtle.

“Wow! So, God gave us this book to teach us all sorts of important things.”

“Yes,” said Robby’s dad. “Most of all, God gave us the Bible because He loves us; whenever we read it we learn how much God loves us all.”

“That is a pretty special book,” said Robby smiling.

“What are you reading?” Robby asked his dad when he finished his last page.

“I’m reading a very special book called the Bible,” replied his father.

Robby climbed into his father’s lap.

“Really, what is it about?”

“The Bible talks about Jesus?”

“Yes, Jesus’ life is talked about in the part of the Bible called the New Testament, it is over here,” said his dad pointing to the last part of the book.

“Well,” began Robby’s dad, “the Bible is a book from God. It contains stories, and history, and commandments, and instructions for us all.”

“Really? But it is so long. Who wrote it?” Robby asked looking through the pages.

“Many different men wrote it, but God gave them the words. He told them what to say.”

“Why did He do that?”

“Because He wanted to tell us all about the world and why He created it.”

“He also wanted to tell us about many important people and places.”

“Most of all, He wanted to tell us about Jesus.”