

Foundations Curriculum

Copyright Foundations Publishing, LLC 2006

Written by Kathlyn Mickel

Illustrated by Noel Tuazon

Contact: info@kidsfaith.org www.kidsfaith.org

There I am Also

Verse for The Church
For where two or three come together
in my name, there I am with you.
Matthew 18:20

Parent/child weekly study

When two or three gather together I am there also. What does that mean? Who is with us?

When you have a question about God, who can you ask?

Do you have any other questions about God?

What else did Jesus tell his disciples?

How do you think they felt about Jesus?

How do you feel about Jesus?

“I don’t understand this verse,” said Christa as she looked at her picture of a church with a verse on it.

“What does it mean when it says, ‘For where two or three come together in my name, there am I also?’”

“But how could he be in all those places at one time?” Christa was mystified.

“Jesus is God. God can do anything!” replied Margaret.

“What do you mean?” asked Christa taking a bite of her apple.

“Well, when we get together with our church family, Jesus is there too. He leads us and helps us when we ask in His name. Do you understand?”

“Yes. So when we go to church Jesus is right there with us!”

“That’s right.”

“Jesus told the disciples to gather together in small groups.”

“He told them that when they came together in groups of two or more, then he would be with them.”

“Back when Jesus was teaching about God,” Margaret began, “there were no Christians yet, but there were men who believed in Jesus, they were called His disciples.”

“Jesus talked to his disciples about a lot of different things including how to help others, how to pray, and how to tell others about God,” explained Margaret.